Questions for corporate managers

I want to make our conversations as valuable for you as I can. The more I know about what lights you up and powers your actions, the better I will be able to serve you.

At the same time, YOU are in charge of YOUR privacy and YOUR comfort zone.

You DON'T have to answer all these questions in writing, immediately.

You don't HAVE to send the answers to me.

You'll get best results if you've thought about the questions – and theyit DO indicate where our conversation will start from.
